

IntelsatOne Expansion with Aldea Solutions Inc.

Increasing Connectivity in Latin America

Providers are looking for more connectivity options to deliver their content and as a result their needs have become increasingly more complex. To support the evolving needs of these providers, Intelsat in partnership with Aldea Solutions Inc. is expanding the IntelsatOne fiber network further into Latin America. This peering relationship significantly expands the geographic reach of the IntelsatOne network and allows for the emergence of transformational products and services as well as better supports occasional use applications and soon full-time service requirements. Initially, Intelsat and Aldea will both supply two occasional use paths to support OU services in region, with full-time services coming at a later time.

By partnering with Aldea, Intelsat will be strengthened by:

- Expanding the Intelsat OU portfolio.
- Additional full-time uplinks to teleports
